

Open Your Eyes

Downstait

It's the end of the world and I feel fine,
Calling raptures reign of fire, sucking logic cold and dry
It's the end of the world, now we all die
Burned away and lost in time, as we let the rockets fly

I don't ever wanna be, part of something wondering
Every single part of me says baby, I'm the black sheep
You can't take me forcibly; you can't change that part of me
I am always gonna be what I choose

So I won't bow down to your love sick martyr, I'm a man
I'll stand and be free, as free as I can
You can follow to the edge, to the bottom of the world
I won't be waiting for you when you open your eyes

It's too late for justifying common sense
Transparent men will smash their fists into the cities we adore
It's the final chapter of this horrid book
Its revelations have been hooked inside the mouths of common man

I don't ever wanna be, part of something wondering
Every single part of me says baby, I'm the black sheep
You can't take me forcibly; you can't change that part of me
I am always gonna be what I choose

So I won't bow down to your love sick martyr, I'm a man
I'll stand and be free, as free as I can
You can follow to the edge, to the bottom of the world
I won't be waiting for you when you open your eyes

When the sky is burning and the bells are ringing
I'll salute up to the raining fire
In the final hour, after all the ground has shattered
We'll finally reveal the guilty parties for who they really are
We're all gonna die

I don't ever wanna be, part of something wondering
Every single part of me says baby, I'm the black sheep
You can't take me forcibly; you can't change that part of me
I am always gonna be what I choose

So I won't bow down to your love sick martyr, I'm a man
I'll stand and be free, as free as I can
You can follow to the edge, to the bottom of the world
I won't be waiting for you when you open your eyes
I won't be waiting for you when you open your eyes