

Man Made Mountain

Dozer

Shut up and listen up closely,
my patience's running out soon...
Collapsing into a ruin,
it's goin' up in smoke...
You won't be dragging your feet now,
exploding out of this place...
And going of like a needle...

And now the hunger is growing,
with the greatest of ease...
There is no victim to dwell on,
'cause you all vanished in flames...
You're staring into a crystal,
like you would never mind...
And don't you think that is odd now...

You're trying to hide,
well you should try to get away...
And you cannot decide,
'cause it's like everyone's the same...

You sure that you understand it?
Or is it torture you want?
So you've been chasing a dragon,
I never knew it was there...
And when you scream like a shotgun,
the sky is waiting to heal...
The rain is pouring down on me...

You're trying to hide,
well you should try to get away...
And you cannot decide,
'cause it's like everyone's the same...

Shut up and listen up closely,
And wipe that grin from your face...
You won't be saying a word now,
Cause you're all making me sick...
