

Baby Jane

Dr. Feelgood

Baby Jane, what a fool I've been.
I let you go; I cast my fate to the four winds.
Baby Jane, can you forgive me now,
And take away this heart of pain
That I'm living, girl?

All that good, sweet, loving.
I guess you forgot.
All that good, sweet, hugging.
When I lost you I sure lost a lot.

Baby Jane, what a fool I've been.
I let you go; I cast my fate to the four winds.

Baby Jane, what a fool I've been.
I let you go; I cast my fate to the four winds.
All the things that I paid
For, running around.
I guess you know by now:
I'll never, never, never, never, let you down.

Baby Jane, what a fool I've been.
I let you go; I cast my fate to the four winds.
Baby Jane, Baby Jane, Baby Jane, Baby Jane, come on now...
Baby Jane.
