

The Warrior

Dragonsfire

I'm Lying on the battlefield, blood runs away, out of my veins
Feelin' the cold gettin' in, the creeping cold within, can't feel anything
Silence is coming down, covering the ground, the groaning around
World is fading away, fade to grey, nothing more to say

There is no way back to life, back to life I can no more
There is no more way to thee and now I have to go
There is no way back to life, back to life I can no more
There is no more way to thee and now I have to go

My life was very strange, but I would not change, no excuse for it
Never trusting anyone, under a warriors sun, only steel prevails
Not knowing that time's running out, I'm the one who shout, at the gods of war
I did what a man was for, now knocking on Valhalla's door, Odin waits for me

There is no way back to life, back to life I can no more
There is no more way to thee and now I have to go
There is no way back to life, back to life I can no more
There is no more way to thee and now I have to go