

Man is the master of his mind
Look deep inside and you will find
Are we not men or just machine?
something that's real or just a dream
Some think they're fallen from the sky
They speak the truth while others will lie, lie, and lie
Some think they're rising from the sea
They speak of faith and destiny

Is this the life for you and me?
Around the world technology
Look deep inside and you will see
Man is the slave, machines are free