

To The Lions

E-Type

Looking at a broken soul I once believed was mine I miss the heart who had the brightest shine but now there's just an empty space where passion used to grow and still I'm so afraid to let you go guess I'm moving on the love is almost gone and like a flower withers you have disappeared

I'm just losing my mind when I hear that you throw your life
to the lions
when the beat of my heart was enough to feed the world I'm just losing my mind when I hear that you throw your
life
to the lions
though I gave you all I had, you looked away

Love your smile it was my light in every single way without it colours turning into grey thousand chances come and gone my hope was always strong but soon enough the fire disappeared

I'm just losing my mind when I hear that you throw your life
to the lions
when the beat of my heart was enough to feed the world
I'm just losing my mind when I hear that you throw your
life
to the lions
though I gave you all I had, you looked away

I'm losing my mind when I hear that you throw your
life
to the lions
I'm losing my mind when I hear that you throw your life
to the lions