

After This Love Is Gone

Eddie Money

I can't tell the future
But I don't care
'Cause when I lie beside you
It's enough that you're there
Enough that you're with me there

Lying by ourselves and falling in love
What about tomorrow
What about the next day
What about the day after, the day after that, baby

What about after this love's gone
Is there a bigger love coming on
Is there a place in your heart for me
Is there a chance we can still see
After this love is gone

When this love is gone

If love was money, we're spending it like a millionaire might
But there will come a time when
Love is harder to come by Harder to come by

If we come, come to our senses
We'll still be in love
What about tomorrow
What about the next day
What about the day after, the day after that, baby

What about after this love's gone
Is there a bigger love coming on
Is there a place in your heart for me
Is there a chance we can still see
After this love is gone

Everything that goes up comes down eventually
But nothing, nothing ever lasted forever
Or did it, or did it just get better?

Let's love each other now baby
That's what I say [?]
Let's save a little strength 'cause
Here comes that rainy day
Here comes that, comes that rainy, rainy day

And if we come, come to our senses
We'll still be in love
What about tomorrow
What about the next day
What about the day after, the day after that, baby

What about after this love's gone
Is there a bigger love coming on
Is there a place in your heart for me
Is there a chance we can still see
After this love is gone

After this love is gone
It's gone, it's gone, it's gone

Is there a place in your heart for me, baby