

Never Again

Eli Young Band

Sun goes down, someone's lonely
Lights go out, someone's going
Kinda crazy, hallway pacing
Someone forgets, we've been saying

Never again, never again, never again
That one of us starts thinking
Calling again, calling again, calling again
Is a good idea, we start
Falling again, falling again, falling back
Into my head and even then
The sun comes up starts creeping in
We wake up say never again, again

Never again, never again
Never again, never again
Never again, never again
Never again, never again, again

Days go by, sometimes longer
It comes back, even stronger
It's inevitable, like there's nothing you can do
But give it time, that's the thing about me and you

Never again, never again, never again
That one of us starts thinking
Calling again, calling again, calling again
Is a good idea, we start
Falling again, falling again, falling back
Into my head and even then
The sun comes up starts creeping in
We wake up say never again, again

I'm not trying to say
That I don't wanna say

Never again, yeah
Never again, hmm

Never again, never again, never again
That one of us starts thinking
Calling again, calling again, calling again
Is a good idea, we start
Falling again, falling again, falling back
Into my head and even then
The sun comes up starts creeping in
We wake up say never again, again

Never again, never again
Never again, never again
Never again, never again
Never again, never again, again

We wake up say never again, again

Never again, never again
Never again, never again

Never again, never again
Never again, never again, again

Sun goes down, someone's lonely
Hmm