

Bleach

Ellie Goulding

Once upon a time you were my sunshine
Everything about you got me god damn wired
Started as a fleeting thing now
You're all that I can stomach
Tie my hands I'm gripping to the stereo
Don't understand how I ended up being so low
Didn't owe you anything now
I'm paying for my exit

Seen violent movies
Seen how it could be
I tried tried to fix your heart
You thief, pat my pockets
Now I'm feeling heartless
I tried tried to pull us apart

What would it take to bleach you
What would it take to undo
Five Hennesseys to drink you out my mind
What would it have to come to
Stuck to me like a tattoo
No remedy to leave you glorified

You throw the dice as if I was the losing game
And every time you ask I say I'm OK babe
Lying in a thousand flames
But I still tell you that I'm OK
It was devotion
I drank every potion you gave me
And now you say you I think we're different
And maybe we could just fuck

Bleed but you don't notice
I was always honest
But you you just loved to lie

What would it take to bleach you
What would it take to undo
Five Hennesseys to drink you out my mind
What would it have to come to
Stuck to me like a tattoo
No remedy to leave you glorified

Bleach you like a bone in a brook
Bleach you like a bone in a brook
Bleach you like a bone in a brook
Bleach you like a bone in a brook
