Between The Times

1. Between the Times

Between the times I'm rolling like a steamer on far away ocean I fear the times And fear the deadly wave of memory-explosion

I'll try to embrace the sun See sunbeam - hair see Jeanne Your lightly body twinkles in fun What do you know? - My sun!? What do you know? - My sun!?

Between the times The tempting bells were carried by eight purple horses I fear the times Surviving rules were set by really unknown forces

I'm blinded by my pain See sunbeam - hair again Your eyes, cold drops of rain What do you know? - My pain!? What do you know? - My pain!?

2. Memory Flash

Your lily-white skin did bleached the sky My tongue grew bigger then and dry Your loveliness destroyed my fear When once your fervid lips caress my ear

That was a time when I felt free Now disappointing sights I see My mind is blind I'm filled with fear Instead of all your.... instead of warmth so dear

3. Appearance Of The VOICE

Pulsating fear, surprise my ear, so come here You are jittery, please trust in me, my dear

Take your time and come aside to green light I loose my time, I'll disappear with daylight

A tiny gate that dances in the wall What kind of voice, what kind of call That pours into my hollow head My heavy ear, I have to leave this hall Love to follow my inner call

4. Return Of The VOICE

I'm blind I hide behind my raving tear You will find your mind inside my hollow ear My eyes are staring throughout my opened head So rise and fight against face and time Space and rhyme

You are the one I want to come Come here, come near, you do not have to run I am the guide of light at night Don't fear my tear as blind as bride Tearin' out of side
