Embodyment

Pride yourself unholy one, never grasp the throne of God Receive your fate your prideful pig forever you will not win I will not be deceived I will not give into your temptation I am bought by the Blood of Jesus The power of heaven protects me Meaningless to me is blasphemies You say I am weak (by Christ I'm made strong) Denying temptation (through God) Sit at your throne of this world creating your patchwork of hat е Call me what you want the truth remains the same I am branded christian Immortal soul of mine fearing not this world I am enslaved by no man Remaining in my faith I do not stand alone My spirit is willing Falling to my knees a servant unto Christ in this world of dise ase Forever, eternal. standing by my Father's side As I watch this world return to sodom & gomorrah I hate to watch you fall I bow down to only one God - Christ who died and arose And to see you wallow in your shame and to deny His love and gr ace? I hate to watch you fall Pride yourself unholy one, never grasp the throne of God Receive your fate your prideful pig forever you know you will n ot win Forget my past In time you stand to question my faith A continuing game of chasing your tail I will not give into your clouded ways And from this path my foot will never stray I will not be deceived I will not give into your temptations I am bought by the Blood of Jesus The power of heaven protects me Meaningless to me is blasphemies
