

I'll Be Alright

Emma Drobná

I have this real strong urge
To write you but I don't know how to start
How to approach you, do you even care that I need you now?

Do you feel the need to ask me how my day was
Or have I ever been too honest, now I'm missing us
So now I'm pretty sure we need more time, we need trust
Sometimes I wake up in the middle of the night

Still kind of wondering if I'm wrong and you're right
The pretty things we're fighting for were better
Now all is worse, that pretty thing
Looking at it is me and my red purse
Have you ever tried to understand my feelings, my desires
Cause we expire to fire
Have you ever thought of future for us, look me in the eyes
Cause you're a liar, I'm crier

I'll be alright, I'll be better, with or without your love
And I know it's true
I'll be alright, I'll be fine and to make you mine I won't try
One more time, this is my last crime
I'll be alright, I'll be better, with or without your love
And I know it's true

I'll be alright, I'll be fine and to make you mine I won't try
One more time, this is my last crime

I have this real strong urge
To write you but I don't know how to start
How to approach you, do you even care that I need you now?
Do you feel the need to ask me how my day was
Or have I ever been too honest, now I'm missing us
So now I'm pretty sure we need more time, we need trust
Sometimes I wake up in the middle of the night

I'll be alright, I'll be better, with or without your love
And I know it's true

I'll be alright, I'll be fine and to make you mine I won't try
One more time, this is my last crime

I'll be alright, I'll be better, with or without your love
And I know it's true

I'll be alright, I'll be fine and to make you mine I won't try
One more time, this is my last crime

He's a liar, he's a cheat, he's got no responsibilities
Just a boy, you haven't pleased, who doesn't know how his words feel, (ah, here we go)

He's a liar, he's a cheat, he got no responsibilities

Just a boy, a human too, he's gotta know, it was too soon

I'll be alright, I'll be better, with or without your love
And I know it's true

I'll be alright, I'll be fine and to make you mine I won't try
One more time, this is my last crime

I'll be alright, I'll be better, with or without your love
And I know it's true

I'll be alright, I'll be fine and to make you mine I won't try
One more time, this is my last crime

I'll be alright, I'll be better, with or without your love
And I know it's true

I'll be alright, I'll be fine and to make you mine I won't try

One more time, this is my last crime (now here we go)
