

Christmas Morning

Eraserheads

Wake up little darling, it's Christmas morning
The sun is up, it's time to open
All the gifts that you've been received

You had been dreaming, angels are singing
But now they've gone and once again it's time to go on with our lives

Let's hope that the next year will be better than last year and somehow we'd all get by
And maybe the time will come when we won't need to pretend to be happy for just a while

World keeps on turning, Fools keep on wishing And when you wake, you'll find that everything is not what we dreamed them to be

than last year and somehow we'd all get by
when we won't need to pretend to be happy for just a while

Wake up little darling, it's Christmas morning
So rise and shine, Let's make the most of Happy Holidays Or maybe I should just let you dream for a while longer Wherever's better place than here
