Still is the lake, untouched by the wind A mirror of darkness reflecting my face Am I awake or is this a dream In shades of black, the devils mark

The lake seems to have a mind of its own
Hiding behind the black surface
Unwilling to reveal its true intention
Yet I can feel the power, dark nature's force

Slowly I lower my face in the lake to see and to learn beyond  ${\sf t}$  ime

In the dark I can see the shape of the queen rising from the bo ttomless pit

I urge to thee, oh queen of all seas, come to me in witchcraft so strong

Come to me in the name of a thousand devils, I wish to serve th ee my queen

With force of the wand of runes
I break the stillness of the lake
Three times I strike the mirror black
A vague moaning from deep below

Slowly I lower my face in the lake to see and to learn beyond  ${\sf t}$  ime

In the dark I can see the shape of the queen rising from the bo  $\operatorname{ttomless}$  pit

I urge to thee, oh queen of all seas, come to me in witchcraft so strong

Come to me in the name of a thousand devils, I wish to serve th ee  $\ensuremath{\mathsf{my}}$  queen

The moment is chosen
Upon the water she rises
All dressed in black
The true ones don't fear
The shape of a woman
But also, a beast
With the tail of a horse
And hooves of an ox