

I'm trapped inside this room
Witnessing your degradation
A soul lost in limbo
This house is your incarceration
I've heard your voice at night haunt these halls
Feet on the stairs, the echoes of your tears
I felt nothing since the day you left
It's been like this for years and years

Modern mind, divisive voices redefine (your heart)
Realign what's broken
Every word misguided by thoughts left confined (confined)
You could leave it all behind

Crawled into a place in my head
The only space where I could feel safe and sound
All that you've lived for comes spiraling down
Catatonic, emaciated
All this pain that you have created
Battered heart, broken soul
With no other place to go

Modern mind, divisive voices redefine (your heart)
Realign what's broken
Every word misguided by thoughts left confined (confined)
You could leave it all behind
Modern mind, divisive voices redefine (your heart)
You could leave it all behind

The small hours loud inside the modern mind
Leeching on the lonely heart

Modernity seems to amplify
Your boundaries of your heart
You try going back when you need to start
And the foundation falls apart
The foundation falls apart
On and on and on

Spiraling downward
Spiral down, spiral down
Spiral down, oh
Reset the pattern doomed to repeat
A perpetual cycle, on and on and on

Blegh
Catatonic, emaciated
All this pain that you have created