

Shadow Autonomous

Erra

Spit out the blood
Freeze to the bone when the lonesome mind is whispering
Decide it's time to settle in, or begin again
Fading in and out again
Places I find healing in
An ocean's length apart from where I stand

Glimpse of light comes shining through this waking dream
Glimpse of light comes shining through
Sleep cycle synced into phase

Rattles your coffin when intrusive thoughts are creeping in Surrogate a home over and over again
We will go on fading in and out again
Sense of loss that you've been feeling
We will go on fading in and out again
Sense of loss that you've been feeling

Break free

Glimpse of light comes shining through
This waking dream
Glimpse of light comes shining through
Sleep cycle synced into phase

A friend, a foe, equally familiar
Kept close, unified inside the mirror
Spit out the blood
Spitting out the blood inside my mouth
The pain stings, but it brings relief
That I can still feel anything at all
Spaces I used to find peace, tearing me apart

Glimpse of light comes shining through this waking dream
Complacencies that we will never seek to replace

Spitting out the blood inside my mouth
The pain stings but it brings relief
That I can still feel anything at all