Everyday Sunday

You know how sometimes you meet somebody Who changes your life But then after awhile you forget how you felt About what changed everything chorus Tell me what's your reason You find me in this treason I didn't think that I'd come through Then I thought that I failed You I tell You that I still love You Well I tell You that I'm guilty, I messed up But You're still the one I love Please forgive me Jesus I promise I won't give up So I know I forgot what it meant just to love Without caring about my selfish thoughts I just want to remember what it's like to glorify You And let it go chorus
