

You speak in tongues to condemn another
You couldn't hold your tongue if you tried
You think you're some kind of hero saving the lost
Bring us to salvation
Bring us to our knees
Save us all
(Please save your breath)
Save us all
(Please save your breath)

It's all the same to you
Go on and let me be
Take your advice elsewhere
And just set me free
They say "to each his own"
So why smother me
And I swear I can hardly breathe
You're hurting your own cause
You're building an army against you

Do you feel brave
Are you comfortable
Hiding where your name's etched in gold
Why use your eyes when your mind is blind
Pointing your fingers

Pulling the triggers

It's all the same to you
Go on and let me be
Take your advice elsewhere
And just set me free
They say "to each his own"
So why smother me
And I swear I can hardly breathe
You're hurting your own cause
You're building an army against you

Why can't you just practice what you preach

If you never question what you're told (Question what you're told)
If you never see past the stained glass
(Past the glass)
How can you know real truth
How can you know real truth
If you never practice what you preach
What gives you the right to teach
Right from wrong
Weak from strong
Right from wrong
Weak from strong
