

It Is All Your Fault

Evocation

Diseased for no sake I burn in open fire impulsive overdose frantic overload evoked from its shade the beast came back for more blood for sacrifice our weakness was our threat rage at me throw me against the wall spill your hate determination from inside aim at me leave me deadly thought hate your self its rise is all your fault its all your fault who was there to win, who released our sorrow defected symmetry, rejected empathy we found our god impaled our god lives no more god for sacrifice, we godless faced our death burn our answers save us from your sins break the silence bleed the fever more turn the fire into toxic breed see the lies and taste our infamy