

My Great Rebellion

Exit Ten

I've been told hundred times hypocrites advise my life
We have no hope of better happiness than to join them
We are drifting you and I down a path that's so defined Blinding light tides advance dreams are swept from my sight
It's freedom in a way from the mind that's been so betrayed

My great rebellion has yet to end
It seems the current is stronger these days that I swim against
Aren't you scared of the day
That well all have to let go and flow freely

Hysterical as it may seem I'm not quite sure where I've been Twenty three years now I'm losing the will to keep counting Craving something more than this broken heart now nothing fits Where to now I'm holding on as tight as I can It's freedom in a way from the mind that's been so
betrayed

My great rebellion has yet to end
It seems the current is stronger these days that I swim
against
Aren't you scared of the day
That well all have to let go and flow freely

The galaxies unfolded once for me
But I can't see the stars anymore
I laid out my dreams to you
It took me time to realise the truth

It's freedom in a way from the mind that's been so

My great rebellion has yet to end
It seems the current is stronger these days that I swim
against
Aren't you scared of the day
That well all have to let go and flow freely
