

My whole life, yea, I have been mistaken driving down this road
Going nowhere fast
Fueled by ignorance my ego burning brighter than the sun

Running out of gas

But I'm at peace now
I'm living with an understanding
That we each have
A point of view
A different road
A different path
A different soul
Live loud
And trust that you'll know which way to go

For so long this life I took for granted
Floating in the clouds
Thought it would always last
But now I've tasted loss that's overwhelming
Bitter to the tongue
Taking all that's left

But I'm at peace now

I'm living with an understanding
That we each have
A point of view
A different road
A different path
A different soul
Live loud
And trust that you'll know which way to go

But I'm at peace now
I'm living with an understanding
That we each have
A point of view
A different road
A different path
A different soul
Live loud
And trust that you'll know

I'm at peace (living with an understanding)
I'm at peace(a point of view)
A different road
A different path
A different soul
Live loud and trust that you'll know which way to go