

Debts Of Imperfection

F.O.B.

I have been chasing all over my recent life
Looking for the hopeful constellation
Taking no notice of silent and cautious voices
That bend fold and nook
The dimensions straight lines
The future has its back towards us
Only what has been done can be faced
Eye to eye
Only in that can we be forgiven
Only in that will the darkness refract
Not twist
I want to pay for my faults so much
I don't care of being drained from within
Happiness seems to be our enemy it
Weakens us by
Putting doubt in your mind
Suddenly you have something to lose
The nobility is not hidden in poverty
And the storm starts to burn
Try not to judge me too harshly
Because I really didn't intend
Now I'm the broken one
But still on the dignity watch
To love is to destroy to destroy is to love
