

Trapped

Fade

What do you seek in the blindness of your twisted state?
Dead thoughts from days protected by the disguise of the masses
As it crumbles to the dust?

Everyday as you lock yourself away
Tomorrow starts to decay behind the door you close
Everyway you repent for yesterday's killing the future
Trapped in yesterday
Trapped in yesterday

Till the last day everyone feels shadows follow them
But in fact reality is a reflection of thought
You dove away from yourself into the sea of numb hearts
When the truth is everything could change with you, with you

Everyday as you lock yourself away
Tomorrow starts to decay behind the door you close
Everyway you repent for yesterday's killing the future
Trapped in yesterday
Trapped in yesterday

Everyday as you lock yourself away
Tomorrow starts to decay beyond the door you close
Think again you repent for yesterday killing the future
Disregard this mask you've made

Everyday when you abandon yourself
Everything in life collapses behind the door you close
Think, again the regret from yesterday's killing the future
Trapped in yesterday
Trapped in yesterday