

Fearless (250 and Dark Stars)

Falling Up

Empty house far away, lost in lonely space.
You know you've felt the same.
From the shallows in love to the depths of your scars.
You know you want to change.
In the rafters, a vate,
fixed and spinning late, there's a certain fear.
Even light with control,
lights outside our homes, wait for every tear.

So exit the fall and now it's over.
You're learning it's all before your heart.
So exit the fall and now it's over.
You're learning it's all before your heart.

I found a way out through everything I've known.
I'm walking fearless with my faith down and all that I own.
Don't take my picture cause I won't be there standing alone.
I'm living fearless, so fearless.
Like every day's my own.

Steady hands in the planes,
calculated ways, to call it ailing in.
Figure hearts far away,
when you work so late from a distant end.

So exit the fall and now it's over.
You're learning it's all before your heart.
So exit the fall and now it's over.
You're learning it's all before your heart.

And now it's over; before your heart.
And now it's over; before your heart.

Call it what you want, call it just a game,
call it insane, all of these voices. (5x)

[Rapped during above part]
I'm calling from the back of your mind;
from the places you'll never reside,
where your thoughts collide;
See places and thousands of faces all at the same time.
Look, everybody close your eyes.
Travel to the place in the back of your mind.
The place you'll never reside, where thoughts combine.
See places and thousands of faces all at the same time.
