

A New Enlightenment Must Come To Find Out What Matters

Fear My Thoughts

(they're all) looking for a savior in these uncertain times blinded by the choices -paths leading nowhere at all like millions of ants existing not living we all need more sense in our lives to use all the options for creating a better ideal help me i can't find a goal in these many choices help me i can't see my place in society exploiting this blindness new saviors arise everyday to lead all these thoughtless and control their minds tickets for places in heaven given by religious leaders unable to stand alone gathered to nameless masses where's the need of choices if we use them this way we fought for our free will don't give it away let's go and light the dark which spreads all around us to get back what we belong: the right to decide and control our life ourselves to find out what matters the only goal that we're looking for is freedom and autonomy but we won't reach these great ideas if we trust a selfish leadership
