

Even Ghosts Forget (The Empire For A Kiss)

Fearless Vampire Killers

Even ghosts forget
We can't spend our time regretting
After all these moments
And every tower raised to the ground

To lay beneath that ashen sky
We promised not to fall in love
As the city cursed our blood
As evil eyes sensationalize
Even ghosts forget.

Time slips away
But fragments of those childish dreams remain
To keep us bound beyond repair
While cries of pain draw vacant stares

Through bloodied kisses like cocaine
We tell each other we're still sane
As all around us rise the flames, (Let's just blame it)
Oh adolescent foolishness

But what's it matter when all is paled by her touch?
The empire for a kiss
With ever breath like ice my spirit grows

While, Time slips away
But fragments of those childish dreams remain
To keep us bound beyond repair
While from my past a voice declares

Even ghosts forget
We can't spend our time regretting
After all these moments
And every tower raised to the ground
Even ghosts forget
We can't spend our time regretting
And every tower raised to the ground