

My Reason For Living

Ferlin Husky

It's a wonder of wonders like a magical spring
How I met you I loved you and it changed everything
But the greatest of wonders just a thing it could be
My reason for living is because you love me
Since I know that you need me and your love I can feel
My life has a meaning and my fate is so real
Love has answered life's questions for at last I can see
My reason for living is because you love me

In your love there's a rightness that no words can explain
Like the living in heaven or that sun follows rain
I see goodness and beauty that I never did see
My reason for living is because you love me
Since I know that you need me...
My reason for living is because you love me
