

I get a letter about a break day
And we have a song for a compilation
Were trying to raise money for a local food not bombs

If I didn't have two daughters and a wife
Being caught up in activism and have a complicated life
I would write a different song for each and every one, Fun.

I just want to, want to thank you
For being the only kid in your scene
Who acts religious enough about the world
Who wants to talk and actually try to do something

The activism of today is the institution of tomorrow
Change has such a high price whether we beg steal or borrow

The activism of today is the institution of tomorrow
Change has such a high price whether we beg steal or borrow

On another Compilation! Compilation! Compilation!
Compilation! Compilation! Compilation! Compilation!
