

Ahead > Behind

Fight The Fade

It's been a long time since I've been this honest
With you or even myself
But there's no way we can move forward
If we can't leave the past behind

Today I'm gonna start being honest
I've outgrown playing these blame games
There's more than being two steps behind love
I know that it's just waiting on me

I will always find another mountain to climb
I'll always be chasing this light
Cause the road ahead is so much better than the life I left behind

Are there ever really mistakes?
Or simply a slide of destiny's hand
Cause every choice has led me here
My own proverbial promise lived
And now there's no looking back
Cause now I'm where I'm meant to be

I will always find another mountain to climb
I'll always be chasing this light
Cause the road ahead is so much better than the life I left behind
I will always find another mountain to climb
I'll always be chasing this light
Cause the road ahead is so much better than the life I left behind

I will always find another mountain to climb
I'll always be chasing this light
Cause the road ahead is so much better than the life I left behind
I will always find another mountain to climb
I'll always be chasing this light
Cause the road ahead is so much better than the life I left behind