

Perfect Lie

Firehouse

If these walls could talk...
They could tell a story
We live in a house but not a home

When were behind closed doors
No one ever sees the fighting
They see us together but inside were alone

Reality is that honesty does not live here anymore
When the trust is gone it all goes wrong
You forget what you're fighting for

You tell me you love me, I tell you I care
But when we talk to each other it's like nobody is there
The truth is the only thing really between you and I
Is a perfect lie

With smiling faces we cover up the problem
And nobody see's through the disguise
What ever happened to the way we used to be
Now there is nothing left for us but denial

Reality is that honesty does not live here anymore
When the trust is gone it all goes wrong
You forget what you're fighting for

You tell me you love me, I tell you I care
But when we talk to each other it's like nobody is there
The truth is the only thing really between you and I
Is a perfect lie
Perfect lie

You tell me you love me, I tell you I care
But when we talk to each other it's like nobody is there
It's never our fault, no one takes the blame
We just stopped listening, it all sounds the same
The truth is the only thing really between you and I
Is a perfect lie
