

Forever Unbroken

Fit for a King

You know nothing, when you tell me that I worship a fabricated story in the sky Throwing away decency because you can't grasp the life of peace and the voice of potency

Empty words are wasted on me
I feel His breath and have seen great things
I've got nothing to hide, and nothing to lose
You can spit out your lies, while I give you firm truth.

Mark my words, I won't back down
Spit out your lies, spit out your lies

Nothing you say,
Nothing you say, will change my mind
This is my life, this is my soul
All that I see
All that I see points back to the divine
This is my life, you'll never change me

Mark my words, I won't back down

Lies have put me down
Hate has shut me out
Through the trials and the pain
I will remain forever unbroken
Forever unbroken

When skin separates from bone
I'll never betray my vows
When death knocks at my door
I'll never give in to the ones who doubted the ones who pick weak faith apart
Keep coming with broken daggers they will never pierce my heart
You'll never change me

Nothing you say,
Nothing you say, will change my mind
This is my life, this is my soul
All that I see
All that I see points back to the divine
This is my life, you'll never change me

Nothing you say,
Nothing you say, will change my mind
This is my life, this is my soul
All that I see
All that I see points back to the divine
This is my life, you'll never change me

Mark my words, I won't back down