

When Everything Means Nothing

Fit for a King

Ones and zeroes fill my eyes
Am I supposed to be like everybody else?
A prisoner of my own mind
Should I give up? Should I give up?

I try to smile, try to fight
Just say I'm okay
But everyday feels like a hurricane

Yeah, I was born in the rain
Yeah, I was born in the rain

Answers never seemed so distant
The fear of missing out blurs my vision
Am I enough to live up to the expectations of the world that won't stop moving

I am so lost in the eye of the storm
I am so lost

But I try to smile, try to fight
Just say I'm okay
But everyday feels like a hurricane

Yeah I was born in the rain
Yeah I was born in the rain

So tell me what I need
So tell me what I need
The water's rising past my eyes
So tell me what I need
The water's rising past my eyes

The rain pours down, the clouds block the light
I can't find the help I need
Let this destroy me
Let this destroy me

I try to smile, try to fight
Just say I'm okay
But everyday feels like it's killing me

Yeah I was born in the rain
Yeah I was born in the rain

So tell me what I need
The water's rising past my eyes
So tell me what I need
The water's rising past my eyes
So tell me what I need
The water's rising past my eyes
So tell me what I need
The water's rising past my eyes