

Endless I

Floater

And what will they say when your gone
That you conquered
That you burned like a rocket
From the womb to the world
And you ran with your colors
And your flags unfurled
And you ignited everything
Like a gasoline rain
Will they say you were insane
While their life is grey
And all of us go down slow
And then we rise again
Just like a tide out at sea
We lower and rise again
And the days go by
And the nights all feel the same
And the beast in your eyes
Slowly becomes tame and dim
Tame and dim
