

WE WIN THE DAY

Flobots

Pull my weight
Can I pull my weight
Make it through the day
Each one feels the same
Never see myself in the frozen flames
Alone, I know, I walk these roads

Add it up, I'm man enough to toss it in the griddle
Abandoning the animus and losing all momentum
"Its bad" patterns keep my madness in the middle "its sad"
Cause I'm so close to winning...

The whole of emotions are holding me back
I'm open and hoping nobody asks
Cant cope with the slogans of too many dads
Accumulate bruising and negative habits
Perhaps there's a Rabbit that raps
I'll get enough cabbage - to get someone to carry these bags
But who is the master, who is the bastard
Who is the pastor - always lying at church to get us
To pay down his taxes - going potassium
Bananas - I'm out looking for these answers
Keep me black and strapped molasses
Irons out to blasts the shackles
I am tasked with reaching out with my inner light
Its casting shadows

Pull my weight, can I pull my weight
Pull my weight, can I pull my weight
I do my part, if you do the same
Then we win the day
We win the day

Pull my weight up by myself
But there's so much agitation
Fever dreams haunt half the nation
Checking on my health
Told you about a million vaccinations
A stack of agent papers made sacred
Talk to me in prophecies
But not the blasphemous heresies
Billionaires extract from the Pharisee's

I'm talking about Heaven on Earth
Making it happen while stepping on dirt
At the concert ice scream out for paradise
For those scared to death, for those scared of life
For those derelicts that feel terrified
Who feel unknown and unappreciated
I'm waiting for a sign, tell me when its time
To come home and be initiated

And...

I'm just one lone unsophisticated soul
One amongst a billions - on the planet for a minute now
Moving in and out of my resilience

In a crowd, I'm floating in a cloud
The prize I'm waiting for is right here beneath
But when I'm isolated, its like its light years for me

Pull my weight, can I pull my weight
Pull my weight, can I pull my weight
I do my part, if you do the same
Then we win the day
We win the day
Pull my weight, can I pull my weight
Pull my weight, can I pull my weight
I do my part, if you do the same
Then we win the day
We win the day

I do my small part and you do the same
You won't let my monsters stand in my way
Highlight your shadow and re-break the chains
And re-win the day, we win the day
I can sing your song when you are afraid
You cant sing my song when I'm in the grave
We know the words because they both are the same

We win the day, we win the day

Pull my weight, can I pull my weight
Pull my weight, can I pull my weight
I do my part, if you do the same
Then we win the day
We win the day
Pull my weight, can I pull my weight
Pull my weight, can I pull my weight
I do my part, if you do the same
Then we win the day
We win the day

Pull my weight, can I pull my weight
Make it through the day, each one feels the same
Never see myself in the frozen flames
Alone, I know, I walk these roads
