Desperate plans impact hearts. Do not stop seeking what you lov e or you might end up loving what you find. Tie me up and blind me with your... What is time now other than my longing? Drag on my dear; you have to hurt to pull on. I could have held you f rom that night on. I see that desparation in your eyes. What's it like to be so far from here? Can you feel the sun? Can you f eel the warmth absorb your solace expressions? Its very cold up here, a symbolic emsemble. I can feel the air, like an orchest ra, tune behind the curtain. How is it possible to understand t he distance when we both see the same bright stars? At night we 'll scream about forefeiting, misplacing everything. We cry div isions, we love decisions, imperative exiles. Wrapped up in hap piness, distorted in reality. Tie me up and blind me with your love.
