

Unlike Any Other

Foy Vance

I'm sometimes whole
But still don't know
If you're my other
There's always hope
I'll style your home
And love your brother

Time's moved on
I'm feeling strong
Getting better
But there is an age old love
Showing up
Sure enough

Let it come and go
Let it ebb and flow out
'Cause I don't want for you to love me just like any other

The breaking dawn
The fading sun
And the moonlit waters
There's an age old love
Showing up
Sure enough

Well let it come and go
Let it ebb and flow out
I don't want for you to love me just like any other

A simple glass of water
Plans upon a parlour
The way I see you love her
The way you hold your gaze strong
And take on all the world's wrong
Yet sing it like a sweet song

Oh it's starting to become clear
I'm loving all that is, dear
Now about your allergy to shed tears

Well let them end their roll
Let them ebb or flow down
But I don't want for you to love me just like any other

It took too long to finally love
For you to find me, love
