

You Get To Me

Foy Vance

You once were the chain holding onto me
I said, baby, cut me loose, set me free
I got what I asked for now that much is true
Only now I realize those chains held me close to you

How how how you got me so blind I cannot see
Now now now when I should be feeling free
I know I left no sweet goodbye when I did leave
Well you always used to say I got to you, well you get to me

You want to blame, dragging me down
At a time when my name's on the list of everyone in this town
And I left through the window for the sun shines through
Tried to unlock these chains on my heart but I'd left the key with you

How how how you got me so blind I cannot see
Now now now when I should be feeling free
I know I left no sweet goodbye when I did leave
Well you always used to say I got to you, well you get to me

How how how you got me so blind I cannot see
Now now now when I should be feeling free
I know I left no sweet goodbye when I did leave
Well you always used to say I got to you, well you get to me

You get to me, babe
You get to me, babe
You get to me, babe
You get to me, babe
You used to tell me that I got to you
Well, you get to me, oh
Oh well, you get to me, babe
You get to me, babe
You get to me, babe
You get to me, babe
You always used to tell me that I got to you
You get to me
