Fred Eaglesmith

Well the heart and soul has disappeared, you know
Outta this old farm seems it's lost it's charm
Workin' day to day, just to make a pay
All the time you're knowin', it shouldn't be this way

Ain't you had enough?
Who you workin' for?
There ain't really much that
They can't afford
Get your prices up
Charge a little more
Workin' day to day, tell me who's the fool?
Couldn't afford to pay, for their swimmin' pools
Couldn't afford to buy, all their fancy cars

Get your prices up
Charge a little more

Ain't you had enough?
Who you workin' for?
There ain't really much that
They can't afford
Get your prices up
Charge a little more

And if they say won't , say they can't, say they don't While they bury under feet, the cows the corn
Stand at the gate at the end of the lane
Tell em if you they wanna em, their gonna have to pay

Get your prices up
Charge a little more
Ain't you had enough?
Who you workin' for?
There ain't really much that
They can't afford
Get your prices up
Charge a little more
Get your prices up
