

Lost In You Again

Fred Hammond

Seems like I've spent this whole life of mine
Searching and searching trying to find
A life filled with love that You already gave
Because of the searching, it pulled me away

I Found all the heartache, I found all the pain
I Found all the drama, I found all the shame

But my search will not end, no my search will not end
Till I find myself

Lost in You again, lost in You again
My search will not end, till I find myself

You said seek and I'll find, ask and I'll find, knock and the door will be open Lord

Lost in You again, lost in You again
My search will not end, till I find myself

Lost in You
Lost in You
Lost in You
Lost in You
