

Yeah, I'm young, I just wanna have fun

My last album was called, "Chasing Down a Dream"
I spent the next year chasing down a bitch
I treated her like a queen
But her dumbass ain't have no common sense
So fuck that, I'm done with the games
I'm fucking all these bitches who love me because the fame
Know that I ain't the same but that's okay, I'm living great
I've been spitting since second grade and now I finally got a name
It's all good, finally got a buzz
Big brother tryna book me, he thought that I was a scrub
Haters always there but I'm getting showered with hugs
My fans said that my music inspires them to love
Love life, live it right, think twice though
Crowd full of white young folks, might go
Sorta crazy as soon as I hit the stage
I already got paid, Imma spend it all tonight though

The city lies, the moon is right
It's on tonight, let's just have fun
We're young and fly, so why ask why?
Come on and ride, let's just have fun

Yo, I feel as if we're at an awkward age
Everybody wants more but they can't get it
You twenty-two, living home with your parents
They giving you on allowance on alcohol you gon' spend it
So fuck it, we drinking and we smoking weed
Big dreams, discussions of going overseas
Kissing the girl in the corner, you hoping no one sees
She thinking different about what your kisses grow to be Huh, nothing at all
And then that nothing turns to something and she taking it off
She making it hard, you living for the moment when you poking you ain't thin king got a brand no job, so what?
Wrap it up, let's be responsible, youth
Rapping is tough but I sponsor the truth
Everybody recognize me, I can hardly get through
I got my crew, we tryna party with you, so what it do? Let's do it

The city lies, the moon is right
It's on tonight, let's just have fun
We're young and fly, so why ask why?
Come on and ride, let's just have fun
The city lies, the moon is right
It's on tonight, let's just have fun
We're young and fly, so why ask why?
Come on and ride, let's just have fun
Let's just have fun
Let's just have fun