

We Belong to Yesterday

Gaia Epicus

A million tears I've cried just because of you
I miss the times we had and what we used to do
So many questions that are running through my head
You didn't give a damn about the things I've said

We belong to yesterday
With all the things that you said in the past
I never could believe that this wouldn't last
So many questions that are running through my head
You didn't give a damn about the things I've said
You are still in my dreams
It's hard to let you go
I wish that you could stay
And didn't have to go
