Each night I meant to say I missed her through the day But I'd forget it I never said it I'd pass the flower shop Lord knows I meant to stop But I'd say tomorrow perhaps tomorrow

Tomorrow there'd be time
There'd always be another spring
Time to make her laughter ring
Time to give her everything

For my Angelica, my Angelica There's so much you never knew So much I always meant to say and do for you, for you Angelica

And then the cold winds came And when I spoke her name And held her near me She couldn't hear me

The shadow had been cast
Too many springs had passed
For Angelica sweet Angelica
Now in my silent room I tend the flowers that I'd buy
As they slowly fade and die
Watered by the tears I cry

For my Angelica, my Angelica There's so much you never knew So much I always meant to say and do for you, for you Angelica, Angelica, Angelica
