Everybody Knows

Gilbert O'Sullivan

Everybody knows that the world is round That is everybody 'cept me 'Cause I ain't been told So why should I be forced to believe

That the feet I wear are meant to bear Pieces of leather that shine No that can't be true 'Cause I can't find a piece to fit mine

When I walk downtown
Dressed up like a clown
People they just burst into tears
Lift their heads and whisper in my ears

Cover up your toes 'cause everybody knows When I walk downtown
Dressed up like a clown
People they just burst into tears

Lift their heads and whisper in my ears Cover up your toes 'cause everybody knows That the state we're in Is about to begin

And if that's not enough You try to balance a plate While eating granny smelly's mince pie When I walk downtown

Dressed up like a clown
People they just burst into tears
Lift their heads and whisper in my ears
Cover up your toes 'cause everybody knows
