

Believe in Yourself

Girls Under Glass

You were my hero, adore an altar I adorn with flowers
You were my god, my gilded picture of my fantasy
You were my hero but then I saw that you are just a human
You were my hero but now your altar's bursting into flames

Forget your idols, believe in yourself
Use your power to be free
Then my picture's decaying to dust, burning in the fire...

You were my god, I am able to see that every fault is also your s
All the pictures blow with the wind when I see clear
You were my god, my gilded picture of my fantasy
You were my hero but then I saw that you were just a human

Forget your idols, believe in yourself
Use your power to be free
Then my picture's decaying to dust, burning in the fire...

Have the courage and be yourself,
Forget your heros, believe in yourself
Find the right way that leads you to the end,
The end of this control
Until your soul is free....right now!
