

This Changing World

Glenn Miller

This changing world, this changing scene
Where is it taking us, what does it mean
As long as we're certain of each other
We know we don't have to be afraid
These changing times we rise above
We have no time for them, we have our love
And love is the only thing that still remains the same
Through all this changing world