

Stigma Diaboli

Glorior Belli

Psalm savour has faded but the evil abide for ever;
The world is exhausted so come forth and rise...Father!
May your thorns pierce the flesh ov men!
And may sinners live above ashes ov your glory.

Trumpets!
Resound to toll the knell of their death.
Mercy unto you and hate and plague be multiplied.

To those who are sanctified by Satan the Lord,
He'll write unto you of the common salvation.
To contend with the faith which was delivered to the...Saints!
who were once ordained angels.
This condemnation turning the grace of our Lord into Lascivious ness.

Denying!
The only true words of our malefactor;
For there are certain men who crawl in awe.

Filthy dreamers, we defile the flesh and speak evil of dignities.
Giving ourselves to strange fornication, we are set for suffering and destruction.
Woe unto us! for we have gone in the way of Cain.
He hath reserved everlasting chains, under darkness to the judgment ov the great day.

Psalm saviour has faded but the evil abide for ever;
The world is exhausted so come forth and RISE!

Rebuke thee.
