

Sedna's Revenge

Gloryful

Let me tell the story
Before ancient times
The myth of never ending hate

Goddess of the sea

She hides deep down
The blackness of the sea
The broken maid that hates the world

Gone to the deep
Never ending loss
Denied for ages
Listen to her call for revenge

Goddess of the sea

Lost forever, as the legend tells
To the never, down forever more

Goddess of the sea
Restless and never free
Crippled and broken
In revenge she believes

Captured by black wings
In her prison by the shore
The home of thunder and storm
