Hey brother stranger you know we shall sail Even if even if only to fail 'cause winning and losing keep journey amusing Down down Your destiny trail

Hey brother stranger you know we shall sail So living and loving may never go stale 'cause hustle and bustle shall get you to the muscle And for you coffin a nail

But nothing in this life is good or bad It's we who dress it up as happy or sad And nothing in this life is a sheer must Yet in living and loving indeed we trust

If you got no place where you belong
Shoulder of stranger just as good and strong
Come in to my house in middle of the night
And don't don't hesitate
Kick that door out!
Hey, kick it out!

Cause nothing in this life is good or bad It's we who dress it up as happy or sad And no one in this life is sinner or saint It's just energy running up the stream Or down the drain And nothing in this life is a sheer must Yet in living and loving indeed we trust indeed we trust
