

Already There

Goo Goo Dolls

I look outside my window, everything was blanketed in white
The neighbors pushing cars out from snow that fell on us last night
Started thinking 'bout the things we used to do when we were young
Back when things were simple, getting up was fun

I couldn't care, cuz I'm already there
I'm already there, and I'm ready there

Turn around and face the clock
I sit and watch, as time went hoppin' by
I'm still growing up, my friends are growing old before my eyes

Count the stars above, wonder when the heavens will subside
Knowing our two worlds will someday just collide

I couldn't care, cuz I'm already there
I'm already there, and I'm ready there

Just a boy who's young at heart, his smile was a bit like yours today
Had a wife, a kid, some strife, never had to go astray
Happiness evolved, life was in full swing at 17
All the things he wanted were things he'd never seen

It don't seem fair, cuz I'm already there
I'm already there, and I'm ready there
