

Now that we found our place here
Today I will follow you anywhere
And I saw a smile upon your face
And the wind still blows
And that won't change
And the sun goes down
But we remain here
Just like we always have

When our thoughts have passed away
And our minds have slept for days
Then we can walk into the world
And the wind will blow
And that won't change
And the sun will go down
But we will remain here
Just like we always have

Just like we always will
